

Jim Richberg's role as a Fortinet Regional CISO leverages his 30+ years' experience leading and driving innovation in cybersecurity and cyber strategy & policy for the US Government and international partners. Prior to joining Fortinet, he spent most of the past decade serving as the National Intelligence Manager for Cyber, the senior Federal Executive focused on cyber intelligence within the $80+ billion US Intelligence Community operating budget. In that capacity he led creation and implementation of cyber strategy for 17 Federal departments and agencies, set integrated priorities on threat issues, and served as Senior Advisor to the Director of National Intelligence on cyber issues.