

Molly Cohen serves as the interim director of the San Francisco Office of Financial Empowerment after previous roles in the San Francisco Treasurer's Office, the New York City Mayor's Office and the New York City Council. She is passionate about financial empowerment, wealth building, books, and baked goods (and wants to hear your thoughts and recommendations on all these topics).